

Redistricting of County Commission Districts occurs after each federal decennial census per ND Century Code Chapter 11-07.

Billings County currently has 3 Commission Districts. Based on the 2020 Census, the population of Billings County is 945. The boundaries of each district have been redrawn to redistribute the County's growing population so that each district has a population as close to 315 as possible, with a margin of +/- 10%.

When creating the redistricting plan, the following items, among others, were considered:

- * Population
- * Location of township boundaries and section lines to keep districts contiguous
- * Shape of the district to maintain compactness and regularity in form
- * Major development projects and subdivisions (current and future)
- * Implications for determining voting precincts
